

Hi, I'm Chalen

I'm a full-stack UX designer in San Francisco.

I studied Product Design for a Master's at UGA.

I'm also a DJ, boardgamer, and bicyclist.

résumé

Projects

Read Case Study

References

"Chalen is strong user centric designer – he is adept at effectively using user interviews, behavior, and UX best practices to identify various solutions to a design problem, and forming a strong perspective on the best path forward to get an intended outcome. Chalen also is a team player, and brings forward outside ideas to help the team towards broader objectives – in working with him he drove us to run our first Design Sprint that achieved great outcomes, from both a business and a team collaboration sense. In addition to these great design skills, Chalen is fun to work with and brings a positive energy to any team."

Angie Kurdys, Head of Product at Couchsurfing

"I had the pleasure of working with Chalen at Couchsurfing. He is incredibly skilled, knowledgeable, supportive and approachable. Chalen is someone who will get the job done with the highest quality and full commitment and a great asset for any team. He contributed a lot into making the website more responsive. For all that, he earns my highest recommendation. He is also one of the nicest people to work with. I am looking forward to hear about his future career achievements!"

Iryna Sidaruk, Senior QA Engineer on Chalen's team at Couchsurfing